Mixed levels

Price: $35 Advance
(postmark by Feb 15)
After that, $40 at door.

Born in Giza, Egypt, he began studying percussion at age eight. In the 1970s Gamal toured worldwide, working with and composing tabla solos for several Egyptian dance stars such as Fifi Abdo, Nahed Sabri, and Azza Sharif.

In the 1980s, Gamal went to New York City where he played for top dancers and singers, and became the drummer for legendary dance instructor Ibrahim Farrah. Gamal began his professional singing career in New York City.

He has won several awards for his work. Some of his music credits:

- the song "Sahra Saidi" on Aziza Raks CD
- featured drummer on Angelika Unveiled CD
- his latest CD: King of Egyptian Tabla (available for purchase.)

He currently resides in Los Angeles, where he sings professionally and teaches tabla, and rhythm for dancers.

Gamal and Angelika will provide an in-depth understanding of how to match movement to rhythm when dancing to Egyptian music.
